

Why David Couper Consulting?

We know people are the real bottom line. In fact, they are the front line to your customers and your best brand ambassadors. But what happens when you don't have a pulse on engagement and employee satisfaction? What is the real cost of employee disengagement?

When employees view their life and their work negatively the following occurs:

- Low productivity
- Negative work atmosphere and culture
- Missed deadlines
- Tardiness
- High turnover

Unhappy employees ultimately translate into lost time and dollars.

“As people see the world, so they behave. If people see the world as ‘life sucks’ then their behavior will follow automatically from that.”

We improve morale. We make work fun again! Maybe your employees are producing and meeting the status quo, but there's still something missing. We can help fill that missing gap by connecting the dots for you. We transform performing employees into extraordinary leaders who are energized and can lead their teams to lasting growth.

How?

We support people in transforming their lives and work cultures through our pioneering, heart-centered, transformational coaching programs and Leadership Development Curriculum. We are truly committed to investing in the real bottom line—your people.

Through our individualized Leadership Development Training and Coaching Programs, we uncover the underlying problems by connecting the dots so you can see the bigger picture. Bad habits and limiting beliefs can obstruct your view to success. These obstructions, or blocks, might stall productivity, but with DCC, this type of stagnation is mendable. We rebuild executives and staff members by:

- Breaking down barriers
- Eliminating obstructions, or blocks
- Harnessing each person's valuable strengths
- Growing powerful teams that are excited and empowered
- Helping them to shine their brightest

Our experienced executive coaches and leadership development team invest in your staff members' potential and create real, long-lasting results. When we work with your employees, we accomplish more than just productivity:

- We partner in the execution of leadership self-mastery, inspiring deep trust and collaboration.
- We facilitate heart-centered talent management through a focus on core strengths and qualities.
- We create an organization with people who serve one vision and purpose through a culture of holistic, conscious integrity.
- We instill vital skills, like self-awareness, heart-centered communication, and deep listening skills, to allow presence and efficiency to radiate.

Simply put: our job makes your job easier and a more prosperous one, too!

“I have been having so much fun ‘working’ the time just flies. I’m witnessing co-workers as team players for the first time. It’s a family like atmosphere and I love it. Of course there are the exceptions and trials but wow! What a difference.

I have not forgotten my recently acquired skills and have slowly started sharing some of the techniques you and I cultivated. I have received kudos from my boss and co-workers about my communication skills. What is amazing is they did not know the previous person I was, but I’ve shared the power of our sessions.”
